

Little Miss Natalie J. Hess, with Top Notch, at the horse show at Mineola, L. I. Paul Thompson.

Above — Left to right: Miss Lilius Kent and Alison and Betty Grace watching the judging at the Mineola Horse Show. International.

At Left — Miss Eleanor Begg, daughter of Representative and Mrs. James T. Begg, who has returned to Washington from her home in Ohio. (c) Harris & Ewing.

Six of the seven Russian war waifs brought to the United States and adopted by Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully are now attending school in Washington. The picture shows them on their way to their studies. International.

Princess Elizabeth Windisch-Graetz, who before her marriage was an Archduchess of Austria. E. Peterffy.

Prince Otto Windisch-Graetz with his little son, Francis Joseph. E. Peterffy.

This is a group of French, Polish and Belgian students who arrived on the Rochambeau to attend the new graduate Social Service School in Washington, opened by the National Council of Catholic Women. Brown Bros.

A new photograph of Marie Corelli, the novelist, in the character of Rostand's Princesse Lointaine, at a fancy dress ball. (c) Gabell, London.

The Viennese artist, Tilla Dirieux, who will soon be seen in the United States. (c) Keystone View Co.